

DEPART	MENT OF DEFENSE INTELLIGENCE INFORMATI	ON REPORT
NATIONAL SECURITY INFORMATION Insurfaction Disclosure Subject to Criminal Sanctions	Classification/Control Markings	This report contains unprocessed into mation. Plans and/or policies should no be evolved or modified solely on basis of this report.
. COUNTRY: BRAZIL (BR)	2. REPORT NUMBER
. THE More on the FROT	6 DATE OF REPORT 771	021
DATE & PLACE OF ACQUISITIO Bra	silia
REQUEST EVALUATION YES	tel-official Arton	13. APPROVING AUTHORITY:
SOURCE: E050X1	(country)	S. A. HOVING AUTROATT
SPECIAL INSTRUCTIONS:		D YES D. V
Sylvid FROTA's 'was	t is shed on the before, during and after	r aspects of Gen to be discussed later	r this month with the High Command and usesident. The High Command agrees with course which GEISEL will most likely have to	sed as a possible
DISTRIBUTION BY ORIGINATOR: OLIVER AND	resigned episode. The FROTA farewell direction month with the High Command and usesident. The High Command agrees with cales which GEISEL will most likely have to ral BA generals. RECO DS-4B 9 NOV 77	ocument was meant sed as a possible ertain issues o face, after shifts of the possible state of the possible s to be discussed later lever against the Provided	resigned episode. The FROTA farewell der this month with the High Command and usesident. The High Command agrees with cales which GEISEL will most likely have to ral BA generals. 19. DOWNGRADING AND DECLASSIFICATION DATA: Classified EXEMPT FROM GENERAL DECLASSIFICATION SCHEDULE BY EXECUTIVE ORDER 11652. EXEMPTION CATEGORY 2.	ocument was meant sed as a possible ertain issues o face, after shifts of the second s

Declassified Authority: Weimer Date: 05-04-2015

Continuation Sheet	CONSIDERATION CONTROL MARKINGS	Page 2 of 6 page	#
22. DETAILS:	E050x1		(Leave Blank)
1. (U) On 16 Oct. 77,	coded sourceto relate the	he following:
Actually, GEISEL scold	the President summoned Gen CALDERARY t, ostensibly to discuss his future ed CALDERARI for having been support Sylvio FROTA) in the on-going politi	assignment prospect	·s.
communists and socialise with politicians who we	tedly apologized to the President, printing that certain rumors about losts had frightened him into establishere boosting FROTA's presidential call stop and keep out of political into	legalizing shing contact
4. (C) Following this	meeting, CALDERARI, late on 11 Oct. mplored FROTA to stop what he was do	77, visited
5. (C) FROTA reportedly for the future of the I he planned to discuss its meeting scheduled The Minister explained document to the Command	told him that he would not because Revolution". FROTA then informed CA an important document with the High for 20 Oct. 77, (since cancelled by that he'd secretly dispatched copie lers of the L. II. III. and IV Armio	e he ''feared LLDERARI that Command in BETHLEM).
6. (C) Unbeknownst to I had secretly informed C ABREU, chief of the Prestructed agents to const	remaining members of the High Comman 77). ROTA, the BASGS, MG ENIO dos Santos EISEL of what was happening through sidential Military Staff. GEISEL that with the four field commanders. oyal to him and would stand by him.	Pinheiro. MG HUGO hen dispatched EISEL agents did not specifically to ed. They were only asked what their ase. And all this reportedly occure official resignation. Morning, MG ARNIZAUT, the	ter GEISEL confronted FROTA and asked we requested until close of business What FROTA did not know is that earl e CG of the Planalto, had been asked ep an eye on FROTA's movements, and	s to submit his ly that same
	CONTIDENTIAL

FQIA(b)(3) - 10 USC 424 - DIA; NRO and NGA DEPARTMENT OF DEFENSE INTELLIGENCE INFORMATION REPORT Report No O ACOURD ENLINE Continuation Sheet Classification/Control Markings Originator (Leave Blank) on the activities of the Army Intelligence/Counterintelligence Center's members. 9. (C) When FROTA returned to BA HQS in the Military Sector, he was surprised to find ARNIZAUT there with his staff, and to discover that they were taking orders directly from the President (via HUGO ABREU). 10. (C) FROTA got members of the BA Intelligence/Counterintelligence Center together to act as bodyguards. He feared being arrested by the President, meaning ARNIZAUT (MG Heitor Furtado ARNIZAUT de Mattos). 11. (C) FROTA sent messages (intercepted by the SNI) to the High-Command's members asking them to come to Brasilia that same day to "discuss an urgent matter". 12. (C) FROTA's farewell document () was approved for release to the news media (actually the press) because the "President has nothing to fear from FROTA". 13. (C) FROTA can even engage in political activities because, again, he, personally, does not represent a threat to the President. FROTA's offense lay in attempting to challenge the President's authority, thereby disuniting the Armed Forces, and this is why GEISEL dismissed ("caused him to be resigned") FROTA. (6) As for the FROTA farewell paper, coded source reports that most of it, save for the part beginning with the tale of his dismissal ('Na manha de hoje, 12 de outubro'', etc) constitutes the document referred to in para 5, above. 15. (C) Source added that based on soundings conducted among BA officers close to the members of the High Command, the parts dealing with: the need to create a complementary corps of reserve officers with guaranteed tenure; to direct-commission sergeants; to provide for a CHAMPUS-like dependents medical care program; to oppose the formation of a socialist party; to weaken the national security apparatus; to separate the public from the Armed Forces; to quickly check into and put a stop to corruption; to hire known actual or ex-subversives as government employees; to leave the Armed Forces out of the President's decision-making process; were all Well-received by the High Command's members. They offered that the President needed to look into these areas. taul alem stribtt seg af eg et Fitte a strepag

COPUTIONIAL TIAL

Classification/Control Markings

1 SEPT 62 EDITION MAY BE USED UNTIL 1 MAR 77

Market and the second s

NW 43265 DocId:25855180 Page 3

FQIA(b)(3) - 10 USC 424 - DIA, NRO and NG

DEPARTM	ENT OF DEFENSE INTELLIGENCE INFORMA	TION REPORT
Continuation Sheet	CONFIDENTALAL	Report No.
	Classification/Control Markings	Originator
But it is of concern to and that the profession to. Anti-corruption me inasmuch as these deal	de document which addresses the govern ceived by the generals. Their judgme policy is that it is none of the Arm o the Army that internal security be nal/personal well-being of its member easures are also not taboo to the BA with a domestic matter.	nment's foreign ent in re the my's business. strengthened rs'be tended High Command	(Leave Blank)
order", i.e.:only generate general staff is r	nen said that it is widely believed as BA Minister, Gen BETHLEM, will take lent, but only after the Army's 'hous cals loyal to GEISEL are in command prid of FROTA sympathizers. coded source offered that generals of Staff Antonio Fermi	e up these se is put in sositions, and
PINHO, the G1 would rem an overt FROTA sympath (the Vice Chief and the	, the G3, MIRANDA Leal, the G4, and ain in place, at least for a while. izer, and two at least were said to EG3).	, the G2, Jorge Sā de None was be pro-GEISEL
because of this fooling	w seemed to have the inside track for ed Forces, because GEISEL, as of now, sted agents in command of the army ar that Gen Jose PINTO will remain in R ashington, D.C. will suceed Gen FRITZ	was said to
WPOH TELETITION THE DIAMA	os de ANDRADA SERPA, acting III Army ered, thanks to energetic steps he to lto message, to insure that no one general was acting CG, BETHLEM was in R.	OK OD 12 Oct
refleved of his command	IRA, who still sees communists everywhere, and was in no danger of being in (BANDEIRA likes FROTA but is afraid o	ummediately
Center, had already been protege and good friend the best changes of heim	of the BA Intelligence/Counterintel fired and BG Edmundo MURGEL, a FIGUE to BETHLEM, at the moment was though named chief of the BA's "spy-on-its	ligence EIREDO
23. (C) Actually, GEISEL	is not expected to 'pumish" any of the	he FROTAists.
	COMPENDALIVITAL
FORM	Classification/Control Markings	1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1
1 550 76 1207 6	SEPT 62 EDITION MAY BE USED UNTIL 1 MAR 77

Their transfer to less impressive/important posts would suffice. 24. (©) As for HUCO ABREU, it is now believed by coded source that it was he who leaked the SNI chief's'candidacy" to the press earlier in the Summer. According to coded source, HUCO ABREU probably did so at GEISEL's - or GOLDERY's (the Presidential Civil Staff Chief) orders, to see how the public - to include the Armed Forces - would react to a FIGUEIRED designation as GEISEL's heir. Source doesn't believe HUCO ABREU capable of treachery. 25. (©) Coded source also feels that GEISEL will democratize BRAZIL because he wants to be known in history as the man who did this. Besides, there are no more 'bulls in china shops'' (i.e. FROTA) to challenge/embarrass the President politically. There is only the small matter of tending to the issues FROTA raised in his farewell document, that is, those which the BA feels need be addressed, and soon, according to coded source's informants/contacts. CRIGINATOR'S COMMENIS: (©) Coded source has shed additional light on the 'why it happened', and the 'hew'it happened' in re FROTA's forced resignation. Note that no four-star general actually knew for a fact that GEISEL would fire FROTA; they must have suspected it, especially after the GEISEL agents' secret visits, but didn't know if and when it would happen. Note, also, that FROTA feared he'd be ordered arrested by GEISEL, especially after he learned that the Planalto CG had called an alert in compliance with GEISEL's order. This could explain the presence of armed Intelligence agents at the BA HOS building on 12 Oct. 77. Note that the President had carefully 'C2'd' his intention to fire FROTA, and then executed his move swiftly and thoroughly. As for GEISEL's fears of FROTA as a political force, he evidently document—and all its political charges—to be released to the public. It must be remembered, though, that if he hadn't done so, the document's contents would most likely have been spread about via covert/and or gossip chamels. After all, FROTA's ideas are Their transfer to less impressive/important posts would suffice. 24. (a) As for HUGO ARREU, it is now believed by coded source that it was he who leaked the SNI chief's'candidacy" to the press earlier in the summer. According to coded source, HUGO ARREU probably did so at GEISEL's - or GOLERYL's (the Presidential Civil Staff Chief) orders, to see how the public - to include the Armed Forces - would react to a FIGUEIREND designation as GEISEL's heir. Source doesn't believe HUGO ARREU capable of treachery. 25. (b) Coded source also feels that GEISEL will democratize BRAZIL because he wants to be known in history as the man who did this. Besides, there are no more 'bulls in china shops' (i.e. FROTA) to challenge/subarrass the President politically. There is only the small matter of tending to the issues FROTA raised in his farewell document, that is, those which the BA feels need be addressed, and soon, according to coded source's informants/contacts. CRIGINATOR'S COMMENIS: (c) Coded source has shed additional light on the 'why it happened', and the 'hew it happened' in re FROTA's forced resignation. Note that no four-star general actually knew for a fact that GEISEL would fire FROTA, they must have suspected it, especially after the GEISEL agents' secret visits, but didn't know if and when it would happen. Note, also, that FROTA feared he'd be ordered arrested by GEISEL, especially after he learned that the Planalto CG had called an alert in compliance with GEISEL's order. This could explain the presence of armed Intelligence agents at the BA HQS building on 12 Oct. 77. Note that the President had carefully 'C2'd' his intention to fire FROTA, and then executed his move swiftly and thoroughly. As for GEISEL's fears of FROTA as a political force, he evidently document - and all its political charges - to be released to the public. It must be remembered, though, that if he hadn't done so, the document's contents would most likely have been spread about via covert/and or gossip channels. After all, FROTA's idea
Their transfer to less impressive/important posts would suffice. 24. (②) As for HUGO ABREU, it is now believed by coded source that it was he who leaked the SNI chief's'candidacy" to the press earlier in the summer. According to coded source, HUGO ABREU probably did so at GEISEL's - or GOLBERY's (the Presidential Civil Staff Chief) orders, to see how the public - to include the Armed Forces - would react to a FIGUEIREDO designation as GEISEL's heir. Source doesn't believe HUGO ABREU capable of treachery. 25. (②) Coded source also feels that GEISEL will democratize BRAZIL because he wants to be known in history as the man who did this. Besides, there are no more 'bulls in china shope'' (i.e. FROTA) to challenge/embarrass the President politically. There is only the small matter of tending to the issues FROTA raised in his farewell document, that is, those which the BA feels need be addressed, and soon, according to coded source's informants/contacts. CRIGINATOR'S COMENIS: (②) Coded source has shed additional light on the 'why it happened', and the 'hew it happened' in re FROTA's forced resignation. Note that no four-star general actually knew for a fact that GEISEL would fire FROTA; they must have suspected it, especially after the GEISEL agents' secret visits, but didn't know if and when it would happen. Note, also, that FROTA feared he'd be ordered arrested by GEISEL, especially after he learned that the Planalto CG had called an alert in compliance with GEISEL's order. This could explain the presence of armed Intelligence agents at the BA HQS building on 12 Oct. 77. Note that the President had carefully 'G2'd' his intention to fire FROTA, and then executed his move swiftly and thoroughly. As for GEISEL's fears of FROTA as a political force, he evidently document - and all its political charges - to be released to the public. It must be remembered, though, that if he hadn't done so, the document's contents would most likely have been spread about via covert/and or gossip channels. After all, FROTA's idea
23. (6) As for HUGO ARREU, it is now believed by coded source that it was he who leaked the SNI chief's'candidacy' to the press earlier in the summer. According to coded source, HUGO ARREU probably did so at GEISEL's - or GOIREY's (the Presidential Civil Staff Chief) orders, to see how the public - to include the Armed Forces - would react to a FIGUEIRED designation as GEISEL's heir. Source doesn't believe HUGO ARREU capable of treachery. 25. (6) Coded source also feels that GEISEL will democratize RRAZIL because he wants to be known in history as the man who did this. Besides, there are no more 'bulls in china shops' (i.e. FROTA) to challenge/embarrass the President politically. There is only the small matter of tending to the issues FROTA raised in his farewell document, that is, those which the BA feels need be addressed, and soon, according to coded source's informants/contacts. CRIGINATOR'S COMMENIS: (6) Coded source has shed additional light on the 'why it happened', and the 'hew it happened' in re FROTA's forced resignation. Note that no four-star general actually knew for a fact that GEISEL would fire FROTA; they must have suspected it, especially after the GEISEL agents' secret visits, but didn't know if and when it would happen. Note, also, that FROTA feared he'd be ordered arrested by GEISEL, especially after the learned that the Planalto CG had called an alert in compliance with GEISEL's order. This could explain the presence of armed Intelligence agents at the BA HQS building on 12 Oct. 77. Note that the President had carefully 'G2'd' his intention to fire FROTA, and then executed his move swiftly and thoroughly. As for GEISEL's fears of FROTA as a political force, he evidently document - and all its political charges - to be released to the public. It must be remembered, though, that if he hadn't done so, the document's contents would most likely have been spread about via covert/and or gossip chamels. After all, FROTA's ideas are shared by a number of Braziliane of their 'underground thunder
24. (€) As for HUGO ABREU, it is now believed by coded source that it was he who leaked the SNI chief's'candidacy" to the press earlier in the summer. According to coded source, HUGO ABREU probably did so at CBISEL's - or COLBERY'S (the Presidential Civil Staff Chief) orders, to see how the public - to include the Armed Forces - would react to a FIGUEIREDO designation as GEISEL's heir. Source doesn't believe HUGO ABREU capable of treachery. 25. (€) Coded source also feels that GEISEL will democratize BRAZIL because he wants to be known in history as the man who did this. Besides, there a re no more "bulls in china shops" (i.e. FROTA) to challenge/embarrass the President politically. There is only the small matter of tending to the issues FROTA raised in his farewell document, that is, those which the BA feels need be addressed, and soon, according to coded source's informants/contacts. ORIGINATOR'S COMMENTS: (€) Coded source has shed additional light on the "why it happened", and the "hew it happened" in re FROTA's forced resignation. Note that no four-star general actually knew for a fact that GEISEL would fire FROTA; they must have suspected it, especially after the GEISEL agents' secret visits, but didn't know if and when it would happen. Note, also, that FROTA feared he'd be ordered arrested by GEISEL, especially after he learned that the Planalto CG had called an alert in compliance with GEISEL's order. This could explain the presence of armed Intelligence agents at the BA HQS building on 12 Cct. 77. Note that the President had carefully "G2'd" his intention to fire FROTA, and then executed his move swiftly and thoroughly. As for GEISEL's fears of FROTA as a political force, he evidently doesn't see him as such, or he wouldn't have allowed FROTA's farewell document - and all its political charges - to be released to the public. It must be remembered, though, that if he hadn't done so, the document's contents would most likely have been spread about via covert/and or gossip chamels. After all, FROTA's	saa Digu summer. According to coded source, HUGO ABREU probably did so at GEISEL's - or GOLDERY'S (the Presidential Civil Staff Chief) orders, to see how the public - to include the Armed Forces - would react to a FIGUEIRED designation as GEISEL's heir. Source doesn't believe HUGO ABREU capable of treachery. 25. (②) Coded source also feels that GEISEL will democratize BRAZIL because he wants to be known in history as the man who did this. Besides, there a re no more "bulls in china shops" (i.e. FROTA) to challenge/embarrass the President politically. There is only the small matter of tending to the issues FROTA raised in his farewell document, that is, those which the BA feels need be addressed, and soon, according to coded source's informants/contacts. ORIGINATOR'S COMMENTS: (②) Coded source has shed additional light on the "why it happened", and the "hew it happened" in re FROTA's forced resignation. Note that no four-star general actually knew for a fact that GEISEL would fire FROTA; they must have suspected it, especially after the GEISEL agents' secret visits, but didn't know if and when it would happen. Note, also, that FROTA feared he'd be ordered arrested by GEISEL, especially after he learned that the Planalto CG had called an alert in compliance with GEISEL's order. This could explain the presence of armed Intelligence agents at the BA HQS building on 12 Oct. 77. Note that the President had carefully "G2'd" his intention to fire FROTA, and then executed his move swiftly and thoroughly. As for GEISEL's fears of FROTA as a political force, he evidently doesn't see him as such, or he wouldn't have allowed FROTA's farewell document - and all its political charges - to be released to the public. It must be remembered, though, that if he hadn't done so, the document's contents would most likely have been spread about via covert/and or gossip channels. After all, FROTA's ideas are shared by a number of Brazilians of their "underground thunder" minimizes the chances for any umpleasant episodes later (eg: the need summer. According to coded source, HUGO ABREU probably did so at GEISEL's - or GOLBERY'S (the Presidential Civil Staff Chief) orders, to see how the public - to include the Armed Forces - would react to a FIGUEIREDO designation as GEISEL's heir. Source doesn't believe HUGO ABREU capable of treachery. 25. (②) Coded source also feels that GEISEL will democratize BRAZIL because he wants to be known in history as the man who did this. Besides, there are no more "bulls in china shops" (i.e. FROTA) to challenge/embarrass the President politically. There is only the small matter of tending to the issues FROTA raised in his farewell document, that is, those which the BA feels need be addressed, and soon, according to coded source's informants/contacts. ORIGINATOR'S COMMENTS: (②) Coded source has shed additional light on the "why it happened", and the "hew it happened" in re FROTA's forced resignation. Note that no four-star general actually knew for a fact that GEISEL would fire FROTA; they must have suspected it, especially after the GEISEL agents' secret visits, but didn't know if and when it would happen. Note, also, that FROTA feared he'd be ordered arrested by GEISEL, especially after he learned that the Planalto CG had called an alert in compliance with GEISEL's order. This could explain the presence of armed Intelligence agents at the BA HQS building on 12 Oct. 77. Note that the President had carefully "GZ'd" his intention to fire FROTA, and then executed his move swiftly and thoroughly. As for GEISEL's fears of FROTA as a political force, he evidently doesn't see him as such, or he wouldn't have allowed FROTA's farewell document - and all its political charges - to be released to the public. It must be remembered, though, that if he hadn't done so, the document's contents would most likely have been spread about via covert/and or gossip channels. After all, FROTA's ideas are shared by a number of Brazilians in uniform, to include some politicians and journalists. Robbing them efficiency is the political fo GEISEL's - or GOLBERY'S (the Presidential Civil Staff Chief) orders, to see how the public - to include the Armed Forces - would react to a FIGUEIREDO designation as GEISEL's heir. Source doesn't believe HUGO ABREU capable of treachery. 25. (e) Coded source also feels that GEISEL will democratize RRAZII because he wants to be known in history as the man who did this. Besides, there are no more 'bulls in china shops' (i.e. FROTA) to challenge/ embarrass the President politically. There is only the small matter of tending to the issues FROTA raised in his farewell document, that is, those which the BA feels need be addressed, and soon, according to coded source's informants/contacts. ORIGINATOR'S COMMENIS: (e) Coded source has shed additional light on the 'why it happened', and the 'hew it happened' in re FROTA's forced resignation. Note that no four-star general actually knew for a fact that GEISEL would fire FROTA; they must have suspected it, especially after the GEISEL agents' secret visits, but didn't know if and when it would happen. Note, also, that FROTA feared he'd be ordered arrested by GEISEL, especially after he learned that the Planalto CG had called an alert in compliance with GEISEL's order. This could explain the presence of armed Intelligence agents at the RA HQS building on 12 Oct. 77. Note that the President had carefully 'G2'd' his intention to fire FROTA, and then executed his move swiftly and thoroughly. As for GEISEL's fears of FROTA as a political force, he evidently doesn't see him as such, or he wouldn't have allowed FROTA's farewell document - and all its political charges - to be released to the public. It must be remembered, though, that if he hadn't done so, the document's contents would most likely have been spread about via covert/and or gossip channels. After all, FROTA's ideas are shared by a number of Brazilians in uniform, to include some politicians and journalists. Robbing them of their 'underground thunder' minimizes the chances for any umpleasant episodes later (eg: th
FIGUEIREDO designation as GEISEL's heir. Source doesn't believe HUGO ABREU capable of treachery. 25. (€) Coded source also feels that GEISEL will democratize BRAZIL because he wants to be known in history as the man who did this. Besides, there are no more 'bulls in china shops' (i.e. FROTA) to challenge/ embarrass the President politically. There is only the small matter of tending to the issues FROTA raised in his farewell document, that is, those which the BA feels need be addressed, and soon, according to coded source's informants/contacts. CRIGINATOR'S COMMENIS: (€) Coded source has shed additional light on the 'why it happened', and the 'hew it happened' in re FROTA's forced resignation. Note that no four-star general actually knew for a fact that GEISEL would fire FROTA; they must have suspected it, especially after the GEISEL agents' secret visits, but didn't know if and when it would happen. Note, also, that FROTA feared he'd be ordered arrested by GEISEL, especially after he learned that the Planalto CG had called an alert in compliance with GEISEL's order. This could explain the presence of armed Intelligence agents at the BA HQS building on 12 Oct. 77. Note that the President had carefully 'G2'd' his intention to fire FROTA, and then executed his move swiftly and thoroughly. As for GEISEL's fears of FROTA as a political force, he evidently doesn't see him as such, or he wouldn't have allowed FROTA's evidently doesn't see him as such, or he wouldn't have allowed FROTA's evidently doesn't see him as such, or he wouldn't have allowed FROTA's farewell document - and all its political charges - to be released to the public. It must be remembered, though, that if he hadn't done so, the document's contents would most likely have been spread about via covert/and or gossip chamnels. After all, FROTA's ideas are shared by a number of Brazilians of their 'underground thunder' minimizes the chances for any umpleasant episodes later (eg: the need to arrest illegal pamphleteers, track them The fact that th	N . 42
ABREU capable of treachery. 25. (©) Coded source also feels that GEISEL will democratize BRAZIL because he wants to be known in history as the man who did this. Besides, there are no more 'bulls in china shops'' (i.e. FROTA) to challenge/embarrass the President politically. There is only the small matter of tending to the issues FROTA raised in his farewell document, that is, those which the BA feels need be addressed, and soon, according to coded source's informants/contacts. ORIGINATOR'S COMMENIS: (©) Coded source has shed additional light on the 'why it happened', and the 'hew it happened' in re FROTA's forced resignation. Note that no four-star general actually knew for a fact that GEISEL would fire FROTA; they must have suspected it, especially after the GEISEL agents' secret visits, but didn't know if and when it would happen. Note, also, that FROTA feared he'd be ordered arrested by GEISEL, especially after he learned that the Planalto CG had called an alert in compliance with GEISEL's order. This could explain the presence of armed Intelligence agents at the BA HQS building on 12 Oct. 77. Note that the President had carefully 'G2'd' his intention to fire FROTA, and then executed his move swiftly and thoroughly. As for GEISEL's fears of FROTA as a political force, he evidently document - and all its political charges - to be released to the public. It must be remembered, though, that if he hadn't done so, the document's contents would most likely have been spread about via covert/and or gossip channels. After all, FROTA's ideas are shared by a number of Brazilians in uniform, to include some politicians and journalists. Robbing them of their 'underground thunder' minimizes the chances for any unpleasant episodes later (eg: the need to arrest-illegal pamphleteers, track them for the property of t
25. (©) Coded source also feels that GEISEL will democratize BRAZIL because he wants to be known in history as the man who did this. Besides, there are no more "bulls in china shops" (i.e. FROTA) to challenge/embarrass the President politically. There is only the small matter of tending to the issues FROTA raised in his farewell document, that is, those which the BA feels need be addressed, and soon, according to coded source's informants/contacts. CRIGINATOR'S COMENIS: (©) Coded source has shed additional light on the "why it happened" and the "hew it happened" in re FROTA's forced resignation. Note that no four-star general actually knew for a fact that GEISEL would fire FROTA; they must have suspected it, especially after the GEISEL agents' secret visits, but didn't know if and when it would happen. Note, also, that FROTA feared he'd be ordered arrested by GEISEL, especially after he learned that the Planalto CG had called an alert in compliance with GEISEL's order. This could explain the presence of armed Intelligence agents at the BA HQS building on 12 Oct. 77. Note that the President had carefully "G2'd" his intention to fire FROTA, and then executed his move swiftly and thoroughly. As for GEISEL's fears of FROTA as a political force, he evidently document - and all its political charges - to be released to the public. It must be remembered, though, that if he hadn't done so, the document's contents would most likely have been spread about via covert/and or gossip channels. After all, FROTA's ideas are shared by a number of Brazilians in uniform, to include some politicians and journalists. Robbing them of their "underground thunder" minimizes the chances for any unpleasant episodes later (eg: the need to arrest-illegal pamphleteers, track them and the fact that the BA High Command is in sympathy with parts of FROTA's farewell document means that GEISEL will have to at least hear them the fact that the BA High Command is in improve the BA's farewell document means that GEISEL will have to at least hea there are no more 'bulls in china shops' (i.e. FROTA) to challenge/ embarrass the President politically. There is only the small matter of tending to the issues FROTA raised in his farewell document, that is, those which the BA feels need be addressed, and soon, according to coded source's informants/contacts. CRIGINATOR'S COMMENTS: (e) Coded source has shed additional light on the 'why it happened', and the 'hew it happened' in re FROTA's forced resignation. Note that no four-star general actually knew for a fact that GEISEL would fire FROTA; they must have suspected it, especially after the GEISEL agents' secret visits, but didn't know if and when it would happen. Note, also, that FROTA feared he'd be ordered arrested by GEISEL, especially after he learned that the Planalto CG had called an alert in compliance with GEISEL's order. This could explain the presence of armed Intelligence agents at the BA HQS building on 12 Oct. 77. Note that the President had carefully 'G2'd' his intention to fire FROTA, and then executed his move swiftly and thoroughly. As for GEISEL's fears of FROTA as a political force, he evidently document - and all its political charges - to be released to the public. It must be remembered, though, that if he hadn't done so, the document's contents would most likely have been spread about via covert/and or gossip channels. After all, FROTA's ideas are shared by a number of Brazilians in uniform, to include some politicians and journalists. Robbing them of their 'underground thunder' minimizes the chances for any umpleasant episodes later (eg: the need to arrest-illegal pamphleteers, track them down, etc.) The fact that the BA High Command is in sympathy with parts of FROTA's farewell document means that GEISEL will have to at least hear them down, etc.) The fact that the BA High Command is in sympathy with parts of FROTA's farewell document means that GEISEL will have to at least hear them down, or these matters, study the points, and then do something to have a fact that the BA High there are no more 'bulls in china shops' (i.e. FROTA) to challenge/ embarrass the President politically. There is only the small matter of tending to the issues FROTA raised in his farewell document, that is, those which the BA feels need be addressed, and soon, according to coded source's informants/contacts. CRIGINATOR'S COMMENTS: (e) Coded source has shed additional light on the 'why it happened', and the 'hew it happened' in re FROTA's forced resignation. Note that no four-star general actually knew for a fact that GEISEL would fire FROTA; they must have suspected it, especially after the GEISEL agents' secret visits, but didn't know if and when it would happen. Note, also, that FROTA feared he'd be ordered arrested by GEISEL, especially after he learned that the Planalto CG had called an alert in compliance with GEISEL's order. This could explain the presence of armed Intelligence agents at the BA HQS building on 12 Oct. 77. Note that the President had carefully 'G2'd' his intention to fire FROTA, and then executed his move swiftly and thoroughly. As for GEISEL's fears of FROTA as a political force, he evidently document - and all its political charges - to be released to the public. It must be remembered, though, that if he hadn't done so, the document's contents would most likely have been spread about via covert/and or gossip channels. After all, FROTA's ideas are shared by a number of Brazilians in uniform, to include some politicians and journalists. Robbing them of their 'underground thunder' minimizes the chances for any umpleasant episodes later (eg: the need to arrest-illegal pamphleteers, track them down, etc.) The fact that the BA High Command is in sympathy with parts of FROTA's farewell document means that GEISEL will have to at least hear them down, etc.) The fact that the BA High Command is in sympathy with parts of FROTA's farewell document means that GEISEL will have to at least hear them down, or these matters, study the points, and then do something to have a fact that the BA High embarrass the President politically. There is only the small matter of tending to the issues FROTA raised in his farewell document, that is, those which the BA feels need be addressed, and soon, according to coded source's informants/contacts. ORIGINATOR'S COMMENTS: (②) Coded source has shed additional light on the 'why it happened', and the 'hew it happened' in re FROTA's forced resignation. Note that no four-star general actually knew for a fact that GEISEL would fire FROTA; they must have suspected it, especially after the GEISEL agents' secret visits, but didn't know if and when it would happen. Note, also, that FROTA feared he'd be ordered arrested by GEISEL, especially after he learned that the Planalto CG had called an alert in compliance with GEISEL's order. This could explain the presence of armed Intelligence agents at the BA HQS building on 12 Oct. 77. Note that the President had carefully 'C2'd' his intention to fire FROTA, and then executed his move swiftly and thoroughly. As for GEISEL's fears of FROTA as a political force, he evidently doesn't see him as such, or he wouldn't have allowed FROTA's farewell document - and all its political charges - to be released to the public. It must be remembered, though, that if he hadn't done so, the document's contents would most likely have been spread about via covert/and or gossip channels. After all, FROTA's ideas are shared by a number of Brazilians of their 'underground thunder' maininizes the chances for any unpleasant episodes later (eg: the need to arrest illegal pamphleteers, track them the fact that the BA High Command is in sympathy with parts of FROTA's arewell document means that GEISEL will have to at least hear them that on these matters, study the points, and then do something to have benefits and reserve officer corps' chances for a full — area benefits and reserve officer corps' chances for a full — area benefits and reserve officer corps' chances for a full — area benefits and reserve officer corps' chances for a full — area of the par tending to the issues FROTA raised in his farewell document, that is, those which the BA feels need be addressed, and soon, according to coded source's informants/contacts. CRIGINATOR'S COMMENTS: (©) Coded source has shed additional light on the 'why it happened', and the 'hew it happened' in re FROTA's forced resignation. Note that no four-star general actually knew for a fact that GEISEL would fire FROTA; they must have suspected it, especially after the GEISEL agents' secret visits, but didn't know if and when it would happen. Note, also, that FROTA feared he'd be ordered arrested by GEISEL, especially after he learned that the Planalto CG had called an alert in compliance with GEISEL's order. This could explain the presence of armed Intelligence agents at the BA HQS building on 12 Oct. 77. Note that the President had carefully 'G2'd' his intention to fire FROTA, and then executed his move swiftly and thoroughly. As for GEISEL's fears of FROTA as a political force, he evidently document - and all its political charges - to be released to the public. It must be remembered, though, that if he hadn't done so, the document's contents would most likely have been spread about via covert/and or gossip channels. After all, FROTA's ideas are shared by a number of Brazilians of their 'underground thunder' minimizes the chances for any umpleasant episodes later (eg: the need to arrest-illegal pamphleteers, track them these matters, study the points, and then do something to instance that GEISEL will have to at least hear them one of the part of those which the BA feels need be addressed, and soon, according to coded source's informants/contacts. CRIGINATOR'S COMMENTS: (G) Coded source has shed additional light on the 'why it happened', and the 'hew it happened' in re FROTA's forced resignation. Note that no four-star general actually knew for a fact that GEISEL would fire FROTA; they must have suspected it, especially after the GEISEL agents' secret visits, but didn't know if and when it would happen. Note, also, that FROTA feared he'd be ordered arrested by GEISEL, especially after he learned that the Planalto CG had called an alert in compliance with GEISEL's order. This could explain the presence of armed Intelligence agents at the RA HQS building on 12 Oct. 77. Note that the President had carefully 'G2'd' his intention to fire FROTA, and then executed his move swiftly and thoroughly. As for GEISEL's fears of FROTA as a political force, he evidently document - and all its political charges - to be released to the public. It must be remembered, though, that if he hadn't done so, the document's contents would most likely have been spread about via covert/and or gossip channels. After all, FROTA's ideas are shared by a number of Brazilians in uniform, to include some politicians and journalists. Robbing them of their 'underground thunder' minimizes the chances for any umpleasant episodes later (eg: the need to arrest-illegal pamphleteers, track them fact that the BA High Command is in sympathy with parts of FROTA's farewell document means that GEISEL will have to at least hear them the same benefits and reserve officer corps' chances for a full the parts of FROTA's farewell document means that GEISEL will have to at least hear them the base and the sense of the reason that the BA's remember that one reason that the BA's remember that the sense of the remains that the sense of the remains that the remains that the remains that the remains that the remains the remains that the reason th ORIGINATOR'S COMMENTS: (©) Coded source has shed additional light on the 'why it happened', and the 'hew it happened' in re FROTA's forced resignation. Note that no four-star general actually knew for a fact that GEISEL would fire FROTA; they must have suspected it, especially after the GEISEL agents' secret visits, but didn't know if and when it would happen. Note, also, that FROTA feared he'd be ordered arrested by GEISEL, especially after he learned that the Planalto CG had called an alert in compliance with GEISEL's order. This could explain the presence of armed Intelligence agents at the BA HQS building on 12 Oct. 77. Note that the President had carefully 'G2'd' his intention to fire FROTA, and then executed his move swiftly and thoroughly. As for GEISEL's fears of FROTA as a political force, he evidently document - and all its political charges - to be released to the public. It must be remembered, though, that if he hadn't done so, the document's contents would most likely have been spread about via covert/and or gossip channels. After all, FROTA's ideas are shared by a number of Brazilians in uniform, to include some politicians and journalists. Robbing them of their 'underground thunder' minimizes the chances for any umpleasant episodes later (eg: the need to arrest-illegal pamphleteers, track them The fact that the BA High Command is in sympathy with parts of FROTA's farewell document means that GEISEL will have to at least hear them the sentence of their manners and reserve officer corps' chances for a full— The fact that the BA High Command is in sympathy with parts of FROTA's farewell document means that GEISEL will have to at least hear them the sentence of the sentence of the points, and then do something to assume their fears, (eg: re internal security, to improve the BA's bridge benefits and reserve officer corps' chances for a full— The fact that the BA compand at this time that one reason that the ORIGINATOR'S COMENTS: (②) Coded source has shed additional light on the 'why it happened', and the 'hew it happened' in re FROTA's forced resignation. Note that no four-star general actually knew for a fact that GEISEL would fire FROTA; they must have suspected it, especially after the GEISEL agents' secret visits, but didn't know if and when it would happen. Note, also, that FROTA feared he'd be ordered arrested by GEISEL, especially after he learned that the Planalto CG had called an alert in compliance with GEISEL's order. This could explain the presence of armed Intelligence agents at the RA HQS building on 12 Oct. 77. Note that the President had carefully 'G2'd' his intention to fire FROTA, and then executed his move swiftly and thoroughly. As for GEISEL's fears of FROTA as a political force, he evidently document - and all its political charges - to be released to the public. It must be remembered, though, that if he hadn't done so, the document's contents would most likely have been spread about via covert/and or gossip channels. After all, FROTA's ideas are shared by a number of Brazilians in uniform, to include some politicians and journalists. Robbing them of their 'underground thunder' minimizes the chances for any umpleasant episodes later (eg: the need to arrest-illegal pamphleteers, track them The fact that the BA High Command is in sympathy with parts of FROTA's farewell document means that GEISEL will have to at least hear them the same after the same benefits and reserve officer corps' chances for a full—prove the BA's fringe benefits and reserve officer corps' chances for a full—prove the BA's fringe benefits and reserve officer corps' chances for a full—prove the BA's fringe benefits and reserve officer corps' chances for a full—prove the BA's fringe benefits and reserve officer corps' chances for a full—prove the BA's fringe benefits and reserve officer corps' chances for a full—prove the BA's fringe benefits and reserve officer corps' chances for a full—prove the BA's fringe benefits fr resignation. Note that no four-star general actually knew for a fact that GEISEL would fire FROTA; they must have suspected it, especially after the GEISEL agents' secret visits, but didn't know if and when it would happen. Note, also, that FROTA feared he'd be ordered arrested by GEISEL, especially after he learned that the Planalto CG had called an alert in compliance with GEISEL's order. This could explain the presence of armed Intelligence agents at the BA HQS building on 12 Oct. 77. Note that the President had carefully 'G2'd' his intention to fire FROTA, and then executed his move swiftly and thoroughly. As for GEISEL's fears of FROTA as a political force, he evidently doesn't see him as such, or he wouldn't have allowed FROTA's farewell document - and all its political charges - to be released to the public. It must be remembered, though, that if he hadn't done so, the document's contents would most likely have been spread about via covert/and or gossip channels. After all, FROTA's ideas are shared by a number of Brazilians in uniform, to include some politicians and journalists. Robbing them of their 'underground thunder' minimizes the chances for any unpleasant episodes later (eg: the need to arrest-illegal pamphleteers, track them the fact that the BA High Command is in sympathy with parts of FROTA's farewell document means that GEISEL will have to at least hear them the on these matters, study the points, and then do something to improve the BA's farewell arrest fears, (eg: re internal security, to improve the BA's fringe benefits and reserve officer corps' chances for a full resignation. Note that no four-star general actually knew for a fact that GEISEL would fire FROTA; they must have suspected it, especially after the GEISEL agents' secret visits, but didn't know if and when it would happen. Note, also, that FROTA feared he'd be ordered arrested by GEISEL, especially after he learned that the Planalto CG had called an alert in compliance with GEISEL's order. This could explain the presence of armed Intelligence agents at the BA HQS building on 12 Oct. 77. Note that the President had carefully 'G2'd' his intention to fire FROTA, and then executed his move swiftly and thoroughly. As for GEISEL's fears of FROTA as a political force, he evidently doesn't see him as such, or he wouldn't have allowed FROTA's farewell document - and all its political charges - to be released to the public. It must be remembered, though, that if he hadn't done so, the document's contents would most likely have been spread about via covert/and or gossip channels. After all, FROTA's ideas are shared by a number of Brazilians in uniform, to include some politicians and journalists. Robbing them of their 'underground thunder' minimizes the chances for any unpleasant episodes later (eg: the need to arrest-illegal pamphleteers, track them the fact that the BA High Command is in sympathy with parts of FROTA's farewell document means that GEISEL will have to at least hear them the on these matters, study the points, and then do something to improve the BA's farewell arrest fears, (eg: re internal security, to improve the BA's fringe benefits and reserve officer corps' chances for a full	40 that GEISEL would fire FROTA; they must have suspected it, especially after the GEISEL agents' secret visits, but didn't know if and when it would happen. Note, also, that FROTA feared he'd be ordered arrested by GEISEL, especially after he learned that the Planalto CG had called an alert in compliance with GEISEL's order. This could explain the presence of armed Intelligence agents at the BA HQS building on 12 Oct. 77. Note that the President had carefully 'G2'd' his intention to fire FROTA, and then executed his move swiftly and thoroughly. As for GEISEL's fears of FROTA as a political force, he evidently document - and all its political charges - to be released to the public. It must be remembered, though, that if he hadn't done so, the document's contents would most likely have been spread about via covert/and or gossip channels. After all, FROTA's ideas are shared by a number of Brazilians in uniform, to include some politicians and journalists. Robbing them their 'underground thunder' minimizes the chances for any umpleasant episodes later (eg: the need to arrest-illegal pamphleteers, track them the fact that the BA High Command is in sympathy with parts of FROTA's farewell document means that GEISEL will have to at least hear them the same and the property of the service of the property of the p	11 11 11 would happen. Note, also, that FROTA feared he'd be ordered arrested by GEISEL, especially after he learned that the Planalto CG had called an alert in compliance with GEISEL's order. This could explain the presence of armed Intelligence agents at the BA HQS building on 12 Oct. 77. Note that the President had carefully "G2'd" his intention to fire FROTA, and then executed his move swiftly and thoroughly. As for GEISEL's fears of FROTA as a political force, he evidently document - and all its political charges - to be released to the public. It must be remembered, though, that if he hadn't done so, the document's contents would most likely have been spread about via covert/and or gossip channels. After all, FROTA's ideas are shared by a number of Brazilians in uniform, to include some politicians and journalists. Robbing them of their "underground thunder" minimizes the chances for any unpleasant episodes later (eg: the need to arrest-illegal pamphleteers, track them down, etc.) The fact that the BA High Command is in sympathy with parts of FROTA's farewell document means that GEISEL will have to at least hear them cont on these matters, study the points, and then do something to his suggestative fears, (eg: re internal security, to improve the BA's farewer). It could be conjectured at this time that one reason that the Note, also, that FROTA feared he'd be ordered arrested by GEISEL, especially after he learned that the Planalto CG had called an alert in compliance with GEISEL's order. This could explain the presence of armed Intelligence agents at the BA HQS building on 12 Oct. 77. Note that the President had carefully 'G2'd' his intention to fire FROTA, and then executed his move swiftly and thoroughly. As for GEISEL's fears of FROTA as a political force, he evidently doesn't see him as such, or he wouldn't have allowed FROTA's farewell document - and all its political charges - to be released to the public. It must be remembered, though, that if he hadn't done so, the document's contents would most likely have been spread about via covert/and or gossip channels. After all, FROTA's ideas are shared by a number of Brazilians in uniform, to include some politicians and journalists. Robbing them of their 'underground thunder' minimizes the chances for any umpleasant episodes later (eg: the need to arrest-illegal pamphleteers, track them down, etc.) The fact that the BA High Command is in sympathy with parts of FROTA's farewell document means that GEISEL will have to at least hear them cont on these matters, study the points, and then do something to have benefits and reserve officer corps' chances for a full Exercer). It could be conjectured at this time that one reason that the compliance with GEISEL's order. This could explain the presence of armed Intelligence agents at the RA HQS building on 12 Oct. 77. Note that the President had carefully 'G2'd' his intention to fire FROTA, and then executed his move swiftly and thoroughly. As for GEISEL's fears of FROTA as a political force, he evidently doesn't see him as such, or he wouldn't have allowed FROTA's farewell document - and all its political charges - to be released to the public. It must be remembered, though, that if he hadn't done so, the document's contents would most likely have been spread about via covert/and or gossip channels. After all, FROTA's ideas are shared by a number of Brazilians in uniform, to include some politicians and journalists. Robbing them of their 'underground thunder' minimizes the chances for any unpleasant episodes later (eg: the need to arrest-illegal pamphleteers, track them down, etc.) The fact that the BA High Command is in sympathy with parts of FROTA's farewell document means that GEISEL will have to at least hear them cont on these matters, study the points, and then do something to hence benefits and reserve officer corps' chances for a full — the parts of the parts of the points and reserve officer corps' chances for a full — the parts of compliance with GEISEL's order. This could explain the presence of armed Intelligence agents at the RA HQS building on 12 Oct. 77. Note that the President had carefully 'G2'd' his intention to fire FROTA, and then executed his move swiftly and thoroughly. As for GEISEL's fears of FROTA as a political force, he evidently doesn't see him as such, or he wouldn't have allowed FROTA's farewell document - and all its political charges - to be released to the public. It must be remembered, though, that if he hadn't done so, the document's contents would most likely have been spread about via covert/and or gossip channels. After all, FROTA's ideas are shared by a number of Brazilians in uniform, to include some politicians and journalists. Robbing them of their 'underground thunder' minimizes the chances for any unpleasant episodes later (eg: the need to arrest-illegal pamphleteers, track them down, etc.) The fact that the BA High Command is in sympathy with parts of FROTA's farewell document means that GEISEL will have to at least hear them cont on these matters, study the points, and then do something to hence benefits and reserve officer corps' chances for a full — the parts of the parts of the points and reserve officer corps' chances for a full — the parts of
Note that the President had carefully 'G2'd' his intention to fire FROTA, and then executed his move swiftly and thoroughly. As for GEISEL's fears of FROTA as a political force, he evidently doesn't see him as such, or he wouldn't have allowed FROTA's farewell document - and all its political charges - to be released to the public. It must be remembered, though, that if he hadn't done so, the document's contents would most likely have been spread about via covert/and or gossip channels. After all, FROTA's ideas are shared by a number of Brazilians in uniform, to include some politicians and journalists. Robbing them of their 'underground thunder' minimizes the chances for any unpleasant episodes later (eg: the need to arrest illegal pamphleteers, track them down, etc.) The fact that the BA High Command is in sympathy with parts of FROTA's farewell document means that GEISEL will have to at least hear them could on these matters, study the points, and then do something to assuage their fears, (eg: re internal security, to improve the BA's fringe benefits and reserve officer corps' chances for a full correct. It could be conjectured at this time that one reason that the	- 1, FROTA, and then executed his move swiftly and thoroughly. As for GEISEL's fears of FROTA as a political force, he evidently doesn't see him as such, or he wouldn't have allowed FROTA's farewell document - and all its political charges - to be released to the public. It must be remembered, though, that if he hadn't done so, the document's contents would most likely have been spread about via covert/and or gossip channels. After all, FROTA's ideas are shared by a number of Brazilians in uniform, to include some politicians and journalists. Robbing them of their 'underground thunder' minimizes the chances for any unpleasant episodes later (eg: the need to arrest-illegal pamphleteers, track them down, etc.) The fact that the BA High Command is in sympathy with parts of FROTA's farewell document means that GEISEL will have to at least hear them cannot on these matters, study the points, and then do something to have benefits and reserve officer corps' chances for a full carreer). It could be conjectured at this time that one reason that the
As for GEISEL's fears of FROTA as a political force, he evidently doesn't see him as such, or he wouldn't have allowed FROTA's farewell document - and all its political charges - to be released to the public. It must be remembered, though, that if he hadn't done so, the document's contents would most likely have been spread about via covert/and or gossip channels. After all, FROTA's ideas are shared by a number of Brazilians in uniform, to include some politicians and journalists. Robbing them of their 'underground thunder' minimizes the chances for any umpleasant episodes later (eg: the need to arrest illegal pamphleteers, track them down, etc.) The fact that the BA High Command is in sympathy with parts of FROTA's farewell document means that GEISEL will have to at least hear them the content on these matters, study the points, and then do something to insuage their fears, (eg: re internal security, to improve the BA's fringe benefits and reserve officer corps' chances for a full — street). It could be conjectured at this time that one reason that the doesn't see him as such, or he wouldn't have allowed FROTA's farewell document - and all its political charges - to be released to the public. It must be remembered, though, that if he hadn't done so, the document's contents would most likely have been spread about via covert/and or gossip channels. After all, FROTA's ideas are shared by a number of Brazilians in uniform, to include some politicians and journalists. Robbing them of their "underground thunder" minimizes the chances for any unpleasant episodes later (eg: the need to arrest illegal pamphleteers, track them down, etc.) The fact that the BA High Command is in sympathy with parts of FROTA's farewell document means that GEISEL will have to at least hear them the court on these matters, study the points, and then do something to insuage their fears, (eg: re internal security, to improve the BA's benefits and reserve officer corps' chances for a full—street. It could be conjectured at this time that one reason that the	1
It must be remembered, though, that if he hadn't done so, the document's contents would most likely have been spread about via covert/and or gossip channels. After all, FROTA's ideas are shared by a number of Brazilians in uniform, to include some politicians and journalists. Robbing them of their "underground thunder" minimizes the chances for any unpleasant episodes later (eg: the need to arrest illegal pamphleteers, track them down, etc.) The fact that the BA High Command is in sympathy with parts of FROTA's farewell document means that GEISEL will have to at least hear them for these matters, study the points, and then do something to inssuage their fears, (eg: re internal security, to improve the BA's farewell. It could be conjectured at this time that one reason that the contents would most likely have been spread about via covert/and or gossip channels. After all, FROTA's ideas are shared by a number of Brazilians in uniform, to include some politicians and journalists. Robbing them of their "underground thunder" minimizes the chances for any unpleasant episodes later (eg: the need to arrest illegal pamphleteers, track them down, etc.) The fact that the BA High Command is in sympathy with parts of FROTA's farewell document means that GEISEL will have to at least hear them but on these matters, study the points, and then do something to assuage their fears, (eg: re internal security, to improve the BA's fringe benefits and reserve officer corps' chances for a full marker). It could be conjectured at this time that one reason that the	· 4 72 channels. After all, FROTA's ideas are shared by a number of Brazilians in uniform, to include some politicians and journalists. Robbing them of their 'underground thunder' minimizes the chances for any unpleasant episodes later (eg: the need to arrest illegal pamphleteers, track them down, etc.) The fact that the BA High Command is in sympathy with parts of FROTA's farewell document means that GEISEL will have to at least hear them but on these matters, study the points, and then do something to assuage their fears, (eg: re internal security, to improve the BA's benefits and reserve officer corps' chances for a full arreer). It could be conjectured at this time that one reason that the	A STATE in uniform, to include some politicians and journalists. Robbing them of their "underground thunder" minimizes the chances for any unpleasant episodes later (eg: the need to arrest illegal pamphleteers, track them fact that the BA High Command is in sympathy with parts of FROTA's farewell document means that GEISEL will have to at least hear them on these matters, study the points, and then do something to assuage their fears, (eg: re internal security, to improve the BA's benefits and reserve officer corps' chances for a full agreer). It could be conjectured at this time that one reason that the
of their 'underground thunder' minimizes the chances for any unpleasant episodes later (eg: the need to arrest illegal pamphleteers, track them the fact that the BA High Command is in sympathy with parts of FROTA's farewell document means that GEISEL will have to at least hear them to not these matters, study the points, and then do something to sustain the benefits and reserve officer corps' chances for a full tracer). It could be conjectured at this time that one reason that the
The fact that the BA High Command is in sympathy with parts of FROTA's farewell document means that GEISEL will have to at least hear them out on these matters, study the points, and then do something to assuage their fears, (eg: re internal security, to improve the BA's fringe benefits and reserve officer corps' chances for a full marker). It could be conjectured at this time that one reason that the	1.6.1
The fact that the BA High Command is in sympathy with parts of FROTA's farewell document means that GEISEL will have to at least hear them on these matters, study the points, and then do something to suspend their fears, (eg: re internal security, to improve the BA's benefits and reserve officer corps' chances for a full marker). It could be conjectured at this time that one reason that the	1 4 1 out on these matters, study the points, and then do something to assuage their fears, (eg: re internal security, to improve the BA's benefits and reserve officer corps' chances for a full arreer). It could be conjectured at this time that one reason that the out on these matters, study the points, and then do something to assuage their fears, (eg: re internal security, to improve the BA's benefits and reserve officer corps' chances for a full arreer). It could be conjectured at this time that one reason that the fringe benefits and reserve officer corps' chances for a full career). It could be conjectured at this time that one reason that the
It could be conjectured at this time that one reason that the
that the conjectured at this time that one reason that the	f. f.
PERSONAL PROPERTY AND ADDRESS OF THE PERSONAL PR
CONTIDENTIAL	1
CONFIDENTIAL.

3 SEPT-62 EDITION MAY BE USED UNTIL 1 MAR 77

1 SEP 76 1:3466;

	POI	A(b)(3) - 10 USC 424	+ DIA; NRC
DEPARTMEN	NT OF DEFENSE INTELLIGENCE INFORMA	ATION REPORT
		Report No.
Continuation Sheet	CONGRESATIAL	Pege 6 of 6 pe	iges
	Classification/Control Markings	Originator
		1.	(Leave Blank)
generals stood by GEISE	L was that he - thru his secret age mand out re the issues raised (at t	ents - promised
"to be raised") by FROT	Ά.
Coded source believe	s that HUGO ABREU leaked FIGUEIREDO)'s candidacy hopefully, shed more 1i	. If he is correct, and the weeks ght on this, then it doesn't appear	ahead should,
HUGO ABREU Will be fire	d in the near future. As for the s	shift in generals, the weeks ahe	ad will also reveal source's accura	icy (actually flicting - re this subj	tacts) vis-a-vis other BA source's ect.
Finally, time will a	1so confirm whether GEISEL really w	vants to go down also let us know just w	the man who restored democracy to hat the word democracy means for GF	BRAZIL, and will 수 있는 것은 이 등 사람들이 가능하는 것을 받는 것 같은 것이 없다. 사람들이 가는 것이 말을 하는 것을 하는 것을 하는 것을 받는다.
			Tank i
	- 경우 교육으로 하고 한다니다 중요한 다른 기다는 경우에 함께 있습니다. 그는 것 같습니다. 1000년 1일 1일 전 1일
		Acar Acar
Prisi Preparation		The state of the state of ्रहिक्त रहा देशकीय वेद्याननंत्र (क्रिकेटिकी)
The state of the s	and it is a significant at an experience
	ASSISTANCE TO THE PROPERTY OF
Sastrof s de mammes and quesau. Sastrof s grant masamines de se Sastrof s de mara en en mana la serie de series.	The state of the s		A 8 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1
ASSILL LANGUAGE DE LA COMPANION DE LA COMPANIO			